2.5 CE

Howard Ochs
DMD

 Oct 29, 2026 | 6:30-9:30pm

 The Halston
400 Broadhollow Rd, Melville, NY 11747

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This 2-hour evening course provides a practical overview of immediate implant placement, from patient selection and treatment planning to surgical and restorative considerations.

Participants will review key clinical principles for evaluating immediate implant cases, managing common surgical scenarios, and achieving predictable restorative outcomes. The course will also introduce digital workflows that can help simplify implant treatment, including digital records, 3D printing, socket sealing abutments, and digital restorative planning.

Through clinical cases and practical insights, attendees will gain strategies that can be applied to everyday implant practice and help improve efficiency and treatment predictability.

COURSE OBJECTIVE

- Identify key factors for patient selection and treatment planning for immediate implant placement.
- Understand essential surgical, biomechanical, and restorative considerations for predictable immediate implant outcomes.
- Recognize common clinical challenges and strategies for managing immediate implant cases.
- Apply principles of crestal bone stability and the Zero Bone Loss Concept to treatment planning.
- Understand how digital workflows—including digital records, 3D printing, socket sealing abutments, and digital restorative planning—can improve efficiency and predictability in implant treatment.
